

Gin & Tonic...

The History

A cocktail that was introduced by the army of the British East India Company. In India and other tropical regions malaria was a persistent problem, in the 1700's it was discovered that quinine could be used to treat the disease, although the bitter taste was unpleasant. British officers in India in the early 19th century took to adding a mixture of water, sugar, lime and gin to the quinine in order to make the drink more palatable.

Waterhead Serve

Our signature G & T's are served in a large balloon glass, filled with ice, topped with Fevertree tonic and served with a variety of garnishes that marry perfectly with the selected premium gin.
